

Myonex Acquired SaveWay Compounding Pharmacy to Expand and Bolster its Clinical Trial Services Across the US

Pharmacies with a direct-to-patient (DTP) design present a significant opportunity for clinical trial-related service providers to expand patient access, broaden participant pools, and enhance the patient experience, a strategy highly valued by research and development executives. This approach streamlines access to trial medications and necessary equipment, facilitating smoother clinical trial processes.

SaveWay Compounding Pharmacy (“SaveWay”) distinguishes itself with a unique business model tailored to customizing medications to meet individual patient needs. With national capabilities, SaveWay is able to dispense medications directly to patients across the United States. SaveWay’s pharmacy services and capabilities made them the ideal transaction partner for Myonex to effectively address patient needs for both Investigational

Medicinal Products (IMP) and commercial drug access. This partnership will also enhance Myonex’s ability to implement Decentralized Clinical Trials (DCT) and hybrid studies with the ability to deliver unblinded comparator drugs via its CTRX™ card, and blinded drug shipped directly to patients.

Crosstree’s market leading pharma services experience played a pivotal role in facilitating this transaction, identifying SaveWay as the preferred choice for Myonex and overseeing the process to its completion. Drawing upon their extensive expertise in the Pharma Services industry, Crosstree meticulously evaluated various companies, ultimately determining SaveWay as the optimal partner for Myonex. This strategic alliance is set to expand Myonex’s clinical trial services offerings nationally.

Crosstree assists clients in identifying the optimal transaction partners to accelerate growth and enhance value for all stakeholders.

ABOUT MYONEX
